I have worked as an Art Director in the advertising industry for many years, where I worked with several dozens of designers, marketing and creative firms and successfully bringing projects to print or to completion.

I have been leading the Department of Continuing Education in Estonian Academy of Arts since 2006. I also taught composition, book design and portfolio making.

Since September 2014 I am the Vice Rector of Estonian Academy of Arts. I am responsible for overall management of academic affairs - its quality and development.

As a freelancer I am creating illustration and book designs, many of my works have been exhibited nationwide and internationally.
